Four seasons of the paddy fields

April
As the snow melts to reveal the black soil, Kita Sorachi's fertile land becomes active.

May
The paddies are filled with water and the land turns into a giant mirror in which the sky is reflected.

Late May
Temperatures rice, the rice planting season begins and the land is covered with beautiful greenery.

August
The ears of rice appear and soon after the small flowers bloom.
Not long until harvest time.

Mid Septenber
Kita Sorachi is covered with belts of beautiful yellow rice as the harvest season begins.

October
The harvested rice plants become pure white rice that's delivered to dinner tables throughout Japan.

Decenber
Kita Sorachi's long winter – beneath the accumulated snow, the rice fields silently wait for spring.
